

Nelson Vails, Olympic medalist in track cycling, and Lynne Tolman

Dr. Cheryl Houston and Andrew Ritchie, author of a book on Major Taylor

Stacy and Greg Brown, Taylor's great-grandson

CELEBRATING CHAMPION CYCLIST MAJOR TAYLOR

Elizabeth Brown, Taylor's grandson's wife, and state Sen. Harriette Chandler

Charles Luster and Stacey DeBoise Luster and Edwin Moses, world champion and record holder in hurdles

Worcester honored Marshall Walter "Major" Taylor with the unveiling of a bronze and granite monument at the Worcester Public Library. Major Taylor, a cyclist, overcame racism and prejudice to become a world champion in 1899. Family members of Major Taylor, celebrities, and Major Taylor Association members gathered for a private party at the Bocado Tapas Wine Bar in Worcester the night before the ceremony.

out & about

PHOTOGRAPHY / STEVE LANAVA

HARRINGTON MEMORIAL HOSPITAL ART PARTY AND FUNDRAISER

Harrington Memorial Hospital held an art party and auction fundraiser in the Oliver Wight Tavern at Old Sturbridge Village. The evening included samplings of fine wines and culinary delights, and a live auction that included fine art, a bed and breakfast getaway, an in-home wine tasting, and Boston Red Sox tickets. Proceeds benefit the Oncology Center, a new facility being constructed on the hospital campus.

Elizabeth Eckhardt, and John and Lois Sheaff

James Stephens and Elizabeth McPhail

David DiGiovanni, Terese Masi-Joseph and Randal Chinnock

Keith and Jean Hilliker

PHOTOGRAPHY/TOM RETTIG